Profile

Passionate and creative Frontend Web Developer with a strong focus on transforming ideas into interactive and visually engaging digital experiences. Over the past year, I've built and maintained modern web applications, developing a solid foundation in clean code practices. During my internship (July–September 2025), I collaborated with a development team to design and optimize user interfaces for better performance and usability. Recognized as a quick learner, problem solver, and team player who values clear communication and collaboration.
